Welcome to the Gillings School of Global Public Health

Consistently recognized as one of the top public health schools in the nation, the Gillings School of Global Public Health has been home to top public health leaders and students for more than 75 years.

Our mission is to improve public health, promote individual well-being and eliminate health inequities across North Carolina and around the world. Dedicated to our mission, the School is constantly moving forward to anticipate future health threats and accelerate public health solutions. Our commitment to excellence is part of everything we do: teaching, research, scholarship, practice and bridging the gap between academic research and practical public health solutions.

This guide was compiled by Research, Innovation and Global Solutions and is intended to provide resources and helpful information for new international students in the UNC Gillings School of Global Public Health. It will be revised and updated regularly. Input from students and faculty and staff members is always very welcome. Please note that none of the information herein is intended to provide legal, medical, or other professional advice. Please also note that the views and information provided within this guide do not necessarily represent the opinions or convey the endorsement of the University or the Gillings School.

Immigration Status Information and Traveling to the U.S.¹

Immediately after you receive your letter of admission, it is important that you follow the instructions from International Student and Scholar Services (ISSS) for submitting your financial certificate form along with supporting documentation in order to receive a Form I-20 or Form DS-2019. These “Certificates of Eligibility” allow students to apply for the F-1 or J-1 visa at the U.S. Embassy and enter the U.S. in F-1 or J-1 student immigration status. Instructions for uploading your financial documentation into ConnectCarolina can be found here: https://isss.unc.edu/files/2017/03/Financial-Certificate-Submission-Process.pdf.

“All students requesting admission to the U.S. in F-1 or J-1 status are required to have a visa stamp in their passport, except for Canadian citizens who are exempt from this requirement. Applicants for F and J visas will require an appointment at a U.S. embassy or consulate. The visa cannot be issued more than 120 days prior to the program start date as listed on the Form I-20 or DS-2019. Students may not enter the U.S. more than 30 days prior to the program start date listed on the Form I-20/DS-2019.

Check the website for U.S. Embassies for current procedures, required documents, how to make an appointment, and operating hours. Based on conditions at each U.S.

consular post, some embassies/consulates may have limited non-immigrant visa services, or could at times be closed.

Visa wait times for an appointment interview may be several weeks. Security clearances may be necessary for some applicants and those procedures have recently been adding 6-8 weeks to normal processing times. Please plan to apply EARLY!

Please review to ensure the accuracy and completeness of your documents before presenting them to a consular officer. Thorough scrutiny of documentation can be expected.

If denied a visa, make a request to receive the reason for denial in writing from the consular officer. Contact ISSS with this written documentation for assistance.”

Here are some tips from international students when traveling to the U.S.:

- Book your flight only after the visa has been stamped in your passport.
- Check the U.S. Customs and Border Protection information (https://www.cbp.gov/travel/us-citizens/know-before-you-go/prohibited-and-restricted-items) regarding items that are prohibited or restricted on flights to the U.S. Make sure to follow all guidelines for bringing food into the country.
- Keep all travel documents, including your passport, Form I-20 or DS-2019, admission letter and proof of financial support, with you during your flight to the United States. Do not pack your travel documents in checked baggage.
- Make provision for airport pickup on the day of arrival.
- Make provision for temporary housing arrangement while looking for permanent housing.
- Anticipate some degree of adjustment in terms of food, skin changes and lifestyle.
- Ask for clarification if confused at any step of your transition.
- DO NOT bring items in carry-on luggage that are not permissible on flights, such as raw, not properly preserved and labeled food items and liquid substances.
- DO NOT carry sharp objects.
- DO NOT attempt to help a stranger with luggage during the course of your flight to the United States. This may include a request for simple assistance such as holding a suitcase or other item.
- DO NOT sign a lease (See Housing below) unless you are certain of living in the apartment. A signed lease is a binding contract. Some international students have had difficulty with this in the past.
- DO NOT sign a utility or service contract if you do not intend to maintain it at least for a year. For example, most phone contracts run for two years, and if you cancel before two years have elapsed, you will incur penalties. The same may apply to cable and Internet, among other services.
- Be aware of ingredients in foods that you may be allergic to when trying food items.
Remember: Upon arrival at UNC you MUST check in with International Students and Scholars Services. Students should sign up for a check-in session. The sign up and instructions are located on the ISSS website. ISSS is located in the FedEx Global Education Center, Room 2004, which is located at the corner of Pittsboro and McCauley Streets.

Arriving in the U.S.
The Office of International Students and Scholars Services offers a variety of information for your arrival to North Carolina via Raleigh-Durham International Airport (RDU). RDU is the nearest airport to Chapel Hill, about 30 minutes east of Chapel Hill.

If you have not made prior housing arrangements for when you arrive in North Carolina, it is wise to make a reservation in a hotel or motel. You can find affordable hotel and motel options under lodging on the ISSS arrival planning webpage. You will also find transportation options from the airport to Chapel Hill.

Housing
There are accommodations available for graduate students who wish to live either on campus or off-campus. Many university students in the U.S. live on or near campus. The vast majority of UNC graduate and professional students live off-campus in Chapel Hill, Carrboro or Durham. Contacting current students to find their favorite apartment complexes, neighborhoods or roommates can be helpful.

On-campus housing options
Graduate and professional students can select apartment-style housing in Mason Farm Graduate Housing. Student families are eligible to apply for housing at Baity Hill Graduate & Family Housing.

Apply early! To learn more about housing and availability, directly contact
- Mason Farm at (919) 843-8831 or masonfarm@unc.edu
- Baity Hill at (919) 843-8831 or Baity.Hill@gmail.com

Read these helpful tips on pursuing on-campus house.

Off-campus housing options and considerations
Students who live off-campus generally find a place less than a mile or two away. Not only is this convenient for getting to and from campus, but many social activities occur on campus. The educational experience is not confined to the classroom, and you will find yourself learning as much from your fellow students as from members of the faculty.
Many local apartment complexes are on the free [meaning no fare needs to be paid] bus lines (Chapel Hill Transit) in Chapel Hill and Carrboro. If possible, it is recommended that you choose a place to live that is near a free bus line. The buses also make less frequent stops at park-and-ride lots, but there is a fee for using this service. (See Transportation).

Please see UNC’s new web tool to help find Off-Campus Housing.

Things to consider when choosing a place to live off-campus.

- Parking: There is no free parking on-campus from 7:30 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. during the week. However, there are pay lots in Chapel Hill on Franklin St., Rosemary St., and on South Campus. As it stands now, you may park for free in most campus lots after 5:00 pm and all day on weekends, with a few exceptions for football and basketball game days and special events (marked by signs).

- Utilities: If the rent does not include utilities, you will have to request that utilities be turned on when you move in. The landlord can provide you with the name and telephone numbers of the gas, electric and telephone companies that service your apartment. If you do not have a good credit history, they may require you to pay a security deposit. The security deposit should be refunded after one year (often, with interest) if your bills are paid promptly throughout the lease period. The gas and electric companies typically provide two payment options. The first requires you to pay for all the services you use in every given month. The other lets you pay an estimated budget amount each month, with any difference being reconciled at the end of the year. Some people find this more convenient, since gas and electricity bills can otherwise vary considerably during the summer and winter months. You still have to pay for all the electricity you use, but it won’t be as big a strain on your budget if you don’t have to pay significantly more during the months you use more of the service.

- Renter’s Insurance: Renter’s insurance is advisable, and most landlords require coverage before moving into your apartment. Insurance can help you recover from property loss due to fire, theft, natural disasters, etc. The landlord is not responsible for your belongings if they are destroyed in a fire or stolen. Most renter’s insurance policies also protect you if someone is injured while in your apartment or if you unintentionally cause significant damage to the apartment. Here is a useful guide from the North Carolina Department of Insurance: Consumer Guide to Renters Insurance – North Carolina Department of Insurance.

- Leases/Budget/Utilities: Carolina Student Legal Services is available to answer questions or concerns about renting an apartment/house.

- Other things to consider when thinking about living off-campus

If you decide on off-campus housing here is helpful information on utilities and basic household needs.

Internet:
Check with your cable provider for internet options, as you might save money by combining your cable and internet services.

Telephone:
Most students have cell phones and do not have landlines (home phone). However, if you would like a landline in your off-campus housing there are various companies in the area that provide the option: AT&T, Verizon, Vonage, Comcast Cable and Time Warner Cable. You can contact them directly to get pricing and see if you can combine your cable, internet and telephone services for a lower price.

For popular cell phone companies in the area:

- AT&T
  - 201 S Estes Dr #200e, Chapel Hill, NC 27604
- Sprint
  - 5324 New Hope Commons Blvd Ext #5, Durham, NC 27707
- Verizon
  - 201 S Estes Dr, Chapel Hill, NC 27514
- T-Mobile
  - 6400 Fayetteville Rd, Durham, NC 27713

When looking at cell phone plans, be sure to ask about their discount calling plans and learn about possible data charges when using phone apps to connect with people internationally (e.g., WhatsApp, Viber and Skype). Remember to mention that you will be making international calls.

Carolina Cupboard: Carolina Cupboard is an on-campus food pantry that provides food at no cost to students who are facing food insecurity. Please visit them in the basement of Avery Residence Hall (295 Ridge Road, Chapel Hill, NC 27514) Monday through Friday from 1:00 pm to 4:00 pm, if you are worried about going hungry.
The Carolina Cupboard may be contacted with questions or concerns about receiving or donating food at: CarolinaCupboard@gmail.com.

Transportation
There are many travel options for getting to campus, to destinations within Chapel Hill and Carrboro, and to other areas in the Triangle region. For the best travel experience, plan ahead and know the laws and rules of the road.

Biking and Walking: For information on biking and walking around UNC and Chapel Hill, please visit UNC’s webpage on Biking and Walking. The page includes resources, maps and safety tips.

In other countries, it may not be customary to wear a helmet while riding a bike. In North Carolina, children under the age of 15 are required by law to wear a helmet, and it is recommended that all people wear a helmet since a good-fitting helmet is your best means of protection from head and brain injury. For more information on bike helmet research and tips on fitting your helmet, visit: https://www.chla.org/blog/rn-remedies/bicycle-helmets-getting-the-right-fit.

Transit Services:
- P2P Express[^1] is a fare-free, fixed-route bus service for UNC students and employees that runs between UNC residence halls and Franklin Street. P2P Express serves designated bus stops on campus every 15 minutes. Buses do not run during breaks, on University-recognized holidays, or when residence halls are closed.
- Chapel Hill Transit offers FREE bus transportation throughout the UNC campus, Chapel Hill and Carrboro. Bus stops are identified by a small blue street sign, and route information is provided near the driver at the front of each bus, or it can be found online. Some busier bus stops provide real-time information on when the next bus is coming, and this information also can be tracked online using the NextBus Bus Locator.
- Park and Ride: Additionally, students can access regular and express buses from a number of Park-and-Ride lots. Most of the park-and-ride lots have a daily or annual charge if you park there. For more information regarding transportation and parking options around Chapel Hill, visit the Department of Public Safety on UNC’s campus.

[^1]: Text on P2P Express taken directly from http://move.unc.edu/p2p/fixed-route/

- Triangle Transit: For regional bus service, Triangle Transit serves Chapel Hill, Durham, Raleigh, Cary, Research Triangle Park and the Raleigh-Durham International Airport. For more information on routes, schedules, prices and policies, visit their website. Their “Transit Trip Planner” is especially helpful in determining the best way to get from one place to another, and will provide bus stop times and walking distances to destinations or transfer locations.

- Uber: Uber is another transportation option that is like a taxi, except you pay via your credit card that you provide when signing-up for an Uber account. You sign-up for Uber, set your pick-up location, request a ride and pay via your phone. Uber can provide you with an estimate how much your fare will be prior to committing to taking their service to your destination. Want to learn more about Uber before signing-up? Uber 101: An Intro to Uber.

- Taxi: Taxis are another transport option for traveling about town and to/from the airport. You can search online for various taxi services in the Research Triangle Park area which includes Chapel Hill, Carrboro, Durham and Raleigh.

Driving: Driving on campus is generally discouraged, as parking is limited and, in most cases, a permit is required. To obtain a parking permit, you must visit the Department of Public Safety building. Metered parking spaces or parking garages with hourly or daily fees are available in some areas around campus for people without a parking permit.

A driver’s license is required for the operation of a motor vehicle in North Carolina. The Division of Motor Vehicles (DMV) provides information on how to get a license and registration for your car. Office locations and phone numbers can be found at: https://www.ncdot.gov/dmv/contact/. The ISSS webpage on transportation can provide more information on driving and getting a license or ID card.

- You can find the steps to obtaining a driver’s license here: https://www.ncdot.gov/dmv(driver/license/
- Study the driver’s handbook before taking the test. The book is available here: https://www.ncdot.gov/download/dmv/handbooks_ncll_english.pdf
- If you do not have a car and do not need a driver’s license, you can still get a N.C. state ID that can be used in lieu of your passport while you’re in the U.S. Check the Division of Motor Vehicles for details.
- Your car must be inspected and your registration renewed each year.
- You must have liability insurance for your car before you can legally drive. Here are some car insurance companies that operate in North Carolina:
  - Geico: www.geico.com/
  - Erie: https://www.erieinsurance.com/
  - State Farm: www.statefarm.com/
You also may choose to go to this site, enter your zip code and compare insurance providers’ rates: http://www.dmv.org/nc-north-carolina/

Air Travel: The Raleigh-Durham International Airport (RDU) is the nearest airport to Chapel Hill, about 30 minutes east of Chapel Hill. To get there from Chapel Hill by car, take I-40 East to Raleigh and exit 284B or 285. Transit service from Chapel Hill to the airport is extremely difficult, so driving or taking a cab or shuttle service is recommended.

Healthcare

All students enrolled at UNC-Chapel Hill are required to have health insurance coverage. The University of North Carolina offers a policy that meets these minimum requirements. Read the details about the student health insurance plan and international student insurance requirements. You can also read about commonly used insurance terms to better understand fees and services.

Campus Health Services: Campus Health Services (CHS) is where students receive comprehensive health care and mental health services. Every student at UNC pays a health fee each term in tuition and fees. This fee entitles students and post-doctoral fellows to services at Campus Health Services. The Health Fee covers most provider visits. You can review the information on the CHS website for a more comprehensive description of what is covered under the Campus Health Fee. Appointments are available by phone and online.

Finance Resources

Opening a bank account: You can open a bank account in the United States even if you are not a citizen. For most banks, you will need two forms of government-issued identification, including a valid passport and one of the following documents:

- Student identification with photo
- Valid driver’s license
- International tax identification number
- Credit card with photo
- Social Security card

To open an account, go to a local branch and fill out the necessary paperwork. Most banks require a minimum initial deposit to open the account. This minimum amount will vary by bank. Once you are approved, it may take 5-7 business days to process the account. You can have your account documents mailed to a temporary residence in the U.S., or you can personally pick them up at the branch. Be careful to read the contract before signing, especially regarding fees, penalties and policies regarding transferring money to an international destination. Here are some local banks and credit union:

- Bank of America:
  - 851 Willow Dr., Chapel Hill, NC, 27514
  - 104 East Main St., Carrboro, NC, 27510
- SunTrust Bank:
It is possible to have two accounts, one in the credit union and one in a regular bank. A regular bank has its own advantages – for example, wide access to ATMs if traveling around the country and abroad. Be careful to read the contract before signing, especially regarding fees and penalties.

Credit card access to money: Local banks are electronically linked internationally with the PLUS, NYCE, CASSIER, CIRRUS and/or other systems. If you have a card that is linked to one of these systems, you can get U.S. currency just by using your credit card or debit bank card. Remember to alert your credit card company to the fact that you will be traveling abroad. Credit card companies may view unexplained charges abroad as suspicious and deny the charge. This is especially important if you wish to use your credit card to make tuition and fee payments.

Foreign money exchange: Most major banks and many travel agencies feature a currency exchange desk. While most major airports feature a currency exchange desk, you are likely to get a better rate directly from an ATM machine affiliated with a major bank. ATM cards most likely to work trouble-free internationally are those with a four-digit PIN number. You may be charged a usage fee by both the local bank and your home institution when withdrawing from an ATM that is not your bank (check with your bank to know how much a usage fee will be).

Child Care Services

- Child Care Services Association (CCSA) provides information about accredited child care resources and agencies for Durham, Orange and Wake counties. Information about child care scholarships and financial assistance is available on their website.

- Child Care Financial Assistance Program was developed and funded through the Chancellor’s Child Care Advisory Committee. It is designed to provide financial assistance to UNC-Chapel Hill employees and students for quality child care. UNC-Chapel Hill contracts with Child Care Services Association (CCSA) to administer the program, with the Benefits Services serving as the University’s liaison to CCSA. Because funding for the program is limited, eligibility cannot guarantee assistance. For additional information on the scholarship program, review their webpage on Paying for Childcare.
- University Child Care Center: The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill and UNC Health Care opened the University Child Care Center and is a nationally accredited, five-star licensed non-profit center. Children enrolled at the University Child Care Center are children of students, faculty and staff of UNC-Chapel Hill and UNC Health Care. The population is a diverse group that reflects the race, ethnic and cultural diversity of the Chapel Hill community. The center currently has a lengthy waitlist, but you can ask how likely your child is to be enrolled and can decide if you should continue to look for other childcare options.

UNC Academic Resources

Classroom Culture: It is important for international students to understand the American education system and the roles that are expected of professors and students.

Though informality might be misinterpreted as a sign of disrespect, most American students do not intend to communicate rudeness by their casual behavior. American students show their respect in different ways. For example, students show respect by having good attendance and by participating actively in classes. When students ask questions, they show the instructor they are interested in the class. International students should participate actively in discussions; since you may well have different perspectives from U.S. students, other students will benefit from your questions and comments as well. In addition, completing all assignments on time communicates responsibility and interest. Most American professors will interpret these behaviors as signs of respect and will respect their students in return.

If you have a question about class material, it is okay to ask the professor in class or wait to speak to the professor after class. As a graduate student, questions and critical thinking are encouraged instead of simple regurgitation (memorizing and repetition) of material.

Academic Enrichment Program: This program is specifically for helping students navigate entry-level biostatistics and epidemiology courses at UNC Gillings. More information about the [Academic Enrichment Program (PDF)].

English as a Second Language (ESL) Mini-Courses: The Writing Center at UNC offers a variety of English as a Second Language (ESL) Mini-Courses. If you are a new student who speaks English as a second language, it is highly recommended you consider registering for the Writing Center’s mini-courses. These courses are free, non-credit courses designed to give incoming ESL graduate students the level of language support necessary for written and oral scholarly communication.

Priority registration is reserved for new incoming graduate students. Continuing students are encouraged to register and will be enrolled in the courses as space is available. Questions? Contact Dr. Gigi Taylor, vgtaylor@unc.edu.

Health Sciences Library: The librarians at the Health Sciences Library welcome the opportunity to support the research and information needs of all students. Librarians are happy to meet with you for individual research consults for in-depth assistance for course papers, master’s papers, and dissertations; to find data sets or statistics; or to help you learn computer applications like Photoshop or GIS. The Global Public Health Librarian holds Librarian Office Hours in the Hooker Atrium every Thursday from 12-1pm.

The library offers classes on citation management, database searching and more. The library has study rooms, which you can reserve on the webpage above. You can also get access to virtually any book or article ever published through InterLibrary Loan for free. Call, text, or chat online. No question is too small. They are here to help!

Diversity Resources at UNC Gillings

At the UNC Gillings School of Global Public Health, we cultivate a diverse and inclusive environment to better prepare our students for the diverse world that awaits them – a world that seeks culturally competent people to serve as its leaders. This vision is explained further in the School's Diversity Statement.

You may see tags posted on the doors of certain faculty and staff members that read “Safe Zone” or “Mental Health First Aider” among others: What do those mean?

- Safe Zone is a program designed to create a network of visible allies to people who identify as part of the diverse LGBTQ+ community. Employees who have this designation have taken training that provided information and resources related to sexual orientation, gender identity and gender expression. Your conversations with them are confidential.

- Employees who have undergone Mental Health First Aid training have studied risk factors and warning signs of mental health and addiction issues, including anxiety, depression, substance use, bipolar disorder, eating disorders, schizophrenia and other mental health problems. Although these employees are not trained psychologists or psychiatrists, they can offer emotional support and direct those who need help to available resources on campus and beyond.

- The Haven Program (Helping Advocates for Violence Ending Now) training is “intended to provide students, faculty, or staff with tools and skills to be an ally to someone who has experienced sexual, interpersonal (relationship) violence, or stalking.”

- Faculty and staff that have a Green Zone tag are “members of the Carolina community that have been trained to know more about the issues and concerns faced by military affiliated students and to identify individuals who are available to assist this population.”

Gender Non-Specific Restrooms: There are gender non-specific restrooms located outside 133 Rosenau and near 246 Rosenau, near where Rosenau connects to McGavran-Greenberg.

Meditation Room: UNC Gillings has created a quiet room to meditate or pray in 016 Rosenau Hall, located on the ground floor of Rosenau Hall. “It is intended to be a multipurpose space for meditation, yoga, prayer, reading quietly, power naps and a safe place to find relief from normal daily stress and over-stimulation we all face.”

There are two ways to reserve the room. You can block 30 minutes in Outlook by searching for “SPH Quiet Space” which will automatically book the room on the digital sign located next to the room once you have selected your desired time. When booking through Outlook, your name will display on the digital sign. If you wish to book the room anonymously, you can reserve time directly on the digital sign. We do ask that you limit your use to 30 minutes per reservation. The Gillings Quiet Room is open between 7:00AM and 7:00PM Monday – Friday.”

Lactation Room: Gillings School of Global Public Health has designated 227A Rosenau Hall as a safe and private space for breastfeeding mothers. The room requires that you agree to follow two rules pertaining to cleanliness and privacy. To find out more information and request access to the room, please click here.

Student Organizations: There are hundreds of UNC-affiliated clubs and organizations. For more information on these clubs and organizations, visit the following web sites:
