

Celebrate Teaching!

Join us for a series of events throughout February to celebrate teaching and discover new pedagogical methods to enhance student learning.

Tuesday, February 7

- 8:30 a.m. Breakfast (Armfield Atrium, Michael Hooker Research Center)***
- 9:00 a.m. Welcome, by Dean Barbara K. Rimer (atrium)
- 9:10 a.m. Presentation of inaugural Teaching Innovation Awards, by Dr. Anna Maria Siega-Riz (atrium)

Thursday, February 9

- 8:30 a.m. Breakfast (lower atrium)***
- 9:00 a.m. "Evaluation of a Large Undergraduate Lecture Course Redesigned to Promote Engagement," by Dr. Kelly Hogan, senior lecturer in biology, UNC-Chapel Hill (BCBSNC Foundation Auditorium)
- 10:15 a.m. Group discussion with faculty members (2005 MHRC)***
- 11:15 a.m. Lunch with postdocs, teaching assistants (3005 MHRC)***

Friday, February 17

- 9:00 a.m. Meeting of Academic Programs Committee
- 10:00 a.m. "Innovative Teaching: A Personal History," by Dr. David Kleinbaum, epidemiology professor, Emory University's Rollins School of Public Health (133 Rosenau Hall)
- 11:00 a.m. Group discussion with faculty members (101 Rosenau Hall)
- 12:15 p.m. Lunch with postdocs, teaching assistants (171 Rosenau Hall)***
- 1:30 p.m. Individual faculty meetings (3005 MHRC)***

Wednesday, February 22

- 11:00 a.m. "Video Thrilled the Lecturing Star: Using Electronic Lectures (eLectures) to Complement In-class Instruction," by Dr. Jeremy Petranka, lecturer in economics, UNC-Chapel Hill (235 Rosenau Hall)
- Noon Lunch with postdocs, teaching assistants (2005 MHRC)***
- 1:00 p.m. Group discussion, faculty members (2005 MHRC)***