

HEALTH HUMANITIES GRAND ROUNDS

Co-sponsored by HHIVE, Carolina Seminars, and Countering Hate

September 1 at 4:00pm

"Reflections on Race & Medicine in the Year of COVID-19 & Nationwide Protests"

The COVID-19 pandemic has shined an ugly light on the longstanding racial and ethnic health disparities that persist in our country. Coupled with the televised murder of George Floyd, these events have sparked a renewed racial reckoning in America.

In his talk, Dr. Tweedy will explore the dilemma of race within the medical school and hospital setting, highlighting the challenges faced by black patients and black doctors while reviewing recent developments and reforms in the field.

Damon Tweedy, MD

Associate Professor of Psychiatry
Duke University

This Zoom webinar is free and open to the public. Registration is required.

Register here: tinyurl.com/HHGRTweedy

Dr. Tweedy has written extensively about the intersection of race and medicine, both in academic journals and in popular print publications including a recent op-ed in The New York Times. His 2015 book, Black Man in a White Coat: A Doctor's Reflections on Race and Medicine, made the New York Times bestseller list and was selected by TIME Magazine as a top non-fiction book that year.