

Bachelor of Science in Public Health

Stay Up to Date on Public Health

Stay Connected with Gillings

- Like the Gillings Facebook page
- Follow the Gillings Twitter account
- Follow the Gillings Instagram page
- Review the school-wide events calendar and attend events that interest you
- Attend the annual UNC Health and Human Rights Lecture
- Attend the annual Minority Health Conference

Stay Informed

There are several great sources to help keep you informed about public health. Some popular sources include:

- The Commonwealth Fund
 - Podcast, “The Dose”
 - Blog, “To the Point: Quick Takes on Healthcare Policy and Practice”
 - Newsletter, “Headlines in Health Policy”
- Kaiser Family Foundation
 - Podcast, “What the Health?”
 - Podcast, “An Arm and a Leg”
 - Newsletter, “The Latest”
- National Public Radio \(NPR\)
 - Podcast, “What's Health Got to Do with It?”
 - Newsletter, “Goats and Soda”
- Robert Wood Johnson Foundation
 - Blog, “Culture of Health”
 - Newsletter, “Advances”
- Tradeoffs podcast and newsletter

There are also many great books related to great public health and health policy and management. Here are some of our favorites:

