

Orientation
Friday, August 18, 2023

Session 1: All Incoming Biostatistics Undergraduate and Graduate Students Room 133 Rosenau
9:00-9:20	Welcome and Overview of the Department's Research and Degree Programs Lisa LaVange, Chair Michael Hudgens, Associate Chair
9:20-9:35	Faculty and Staff Introductions Lisa LaVange, Chair
9:35-9:45	Incoming Classes: BSPH, MS and PhD Jane Monaco, Director of Undergraduate Studies Fei Zou, Chair of Graduate Admissions Committee
9:45-10	Welcome and Overview of Student Activities BIOS Student Association (BSA)
10-10:30	Student Services Melissa Hobgood, Academic Coordinator
	Computer Support Scott Zentz, Systems Programmer
10:30-10:45 Break

Orientation
Friday, August 12, 2022

Session 2:
For Incoming Biostatistics Students

Graduate Student Breakout Session Room 133 Rosenau Hall	Undergraduate Student Breakout Session Room 2308 McGavran-Greenberg Hall
10:45-11:10 Graduate Student Introductions	10:45-12:00 Undergraduate Student Introductions
11:10-11:40 Graduate Curriculum Information Joseph Ibrahim, Director of Graduate Studies	Undergraduate Curriculum Information Jane Monaco, Director of Undergraduate Studies
11:40-11:50 Department Seminars Xianming Tan, Associate Professor	Student Panel
11:50-12 Information Regarding Business Office Terry Link, Accounting Tech
12:00-12:45	Lunch and Break

Session 3:

Incoming Graduate Students should attend
Undergraduate Students are welcome (but not required) to attend
Room 133 Rosenau

12:45-2:00
Research Talks: A series of short informational presentations by current students and faculty
Michael Kosorok, Professor
Taylor Krajewski, Doctoral Student
Michael Love, Associate Professor
Nikki Freeman, Doctoral Student
Daniela Sotres-Alvarez, Associate Professor